Mr. Joseph Quinn
Hancock, New Hampshire

Dear Mr. Quinn:

You have inquired as to whether or not a married woman who was once a resident of the Town of Hancock and whose name appeared on the check lists in that Town, but whose name has been removed by the Supervisors of the check lists because of her continued absence may have her name replaced on the check list and claim her residence in that Town.

It is our opinion that a person who has married and moved out of state with her husband and is residing and making her home elsewhere is no longer a resident of Hancock and a removal of her name from the check list under these circumstances by the Supervisors would be justified. Basically this is a factual determination which must be made by the Supervisors in the first instance. Any person who considers himself aggrieved by the action of the Supervisors may appeal to the Courts.

Very truly yours,

Henry Dowst, Jr.,
Assistant Attorney General
